“ It’s sad, that it’s been more than a year since we saw each other. Last year you and I and Zulema spent two great days together. You were still the same. The years had not changed you. We talked, you had many stories to tell. You showed me some of your one of a kind ideas, you were working on. I also got to enjoy the one thing we never did when we were growing up, that was going to a movie, laughing together and enjoying popcorn. Who would know how much fun that could be, with us it was not about spending a lot of days together, but the the joy of being together, that counted. Those days will always be a part of my fond memories. I am lucky to have had you as my brother. I see you as the best kind of brother anybody could have. When you were showing me something new your patient’s was always there. To me you are not gone. All I have to do is think of you and you’re there, never old ,never sick. I see you as when you were at your best. Our life took us in many directions, but our love of family always kept us together. I miss you in the sense of not being in the same room with you and that warm hug when we first seen each other. If I want to see you, all I have to do is think of you.

Love Your Brother Joe

“ I only met Brigido once when he and his wife came to visit Brigit where she worked. He was so proud of Brigit, hugs and allllllll smiles. I've heard soulful stories from Brigit about him and can feel & know how lucky she was (and is) to have him as a father; and also how lovingly he will be missed.

“ It has been a privilege to know your mom and dad for some years now thanks to Tomato. They both are truly some of the most genuine and sweetest people I have ever known. Your dad was absolutely hilarious and had the best stories. He would always make me laugh on our visits to see them, the way him and your mom would poke fun at each other, even his little gestures he would make. You always felt better after a visit with them. The way they were with each other, you just knew the love each one truly had for one another. And he loved to tinker and could fix anything and to this day, thanks to him, we can unbury ourselves from the snow every winter with the snowblower he got working again that I was sure was done! 😊 They are a true blessing and I will forever miss all the laughter and his stories... all my love and prayers ❤️🙏

“ Dear Elizondo family. I'm a friend of Brigit's who I became friends with when we worked together at Bricker & Eckler. Brigit told me so much about her father that I felt I knew him even though I never met him. And what I knew about Brigido through Brigit is that he was the kindest, gentlest, most loving parent anyone could ever have. You are lucky to have had him in your lives. And he was lucky to have had you in his. I am truly sorry that you've lost him. But know that he will live on in your hearts forever.

“ What a loving, kind, and loyal man uncle Shorty was. He had a wonderful sense of humor and always had a way of making everyone smile. I loved how he loved his family and especially his princess Zulema. I keep thinking he must be enjoying the sweet sound of music in his ears today and preparing to meet his bride again. He was a beautiful good man that graced our lives. I'm so thankful I knew him.

Just read this to mom. She thinks the word should be "Queen" instead of princess...because "He was my king." XOXO
