“ Carol will be missed! She taught me so much about the hospitality industry and she will never be forgotten by me. Her dedication to her work was inspiring to me. After the hotel business, when she went back to teaching, I loved to listen to her stories of the kids at school- her eyes lit up and a smile was always plastered on her face, with a chuckle not too far behind. She fought her cancer battle with dignity and strength and that too I will never forget about her. I hope the great memories she shared with everyone will be enough to get the family through this difficult time. I'll keep you all in my prayers. She touched so many lives, and I'm especially grateful for her touching mine.##imported-begin##Rachel Krasula rjkrasula@hotmail.com##imported-end##
