“ Dear Taylor Family:

It was with a great sense of loss when I heard of Chris' death.

I wanted to let you know that you have my greatest sympathy, and my heart is truly saddened. I was completely shocked & didnt expect this to happen, none of us did.

Chris was more than just a wonderful person; he was always so kind, considerate, respectful, and funny to me that I always welcomed seeing him at every opportunity. I worked with Chris at Southwyck Lanes for several years and he taught me so many new skills, taught me "the ropes" of a bowling center, and he was the first person to ever train me when I started working at Southwyck. He was by far the "smartest bowling mechanic" that I have ever met, a truly gifted & talented individual. Not only a cool & great co-worker, but a very good friend indeed.

Chris will always remain within my heart & all of the people who has certainly touched in lifetime, and I have included Chris and your family in my daily prayers. May God give you strength.

My sincere thoughts and prayers are with you. Take care and God Bless.

With deepest sympathy,

“ Dear Chris,

Words can't even begin to describe how I'm feeling right now. Hurt, Sadness, Confusion, Anger, Faith, but most of all Love! As in all tragic accidents this definitely has taken us all by surprise. There are so many things that we never got to experience together. I was so looking forward to being a groomsman for you and hopefully someday having you as my best man. We had our differences when we were little but as we aged we got to know each other better and actually became great friends. You were such a good man and great brother. Its not supposed to be the little brother that takes care of the big brother, but there are so many times that I needed you and you never disappointed me because you were right there you pick me up when i was down. I was so excited when you started riding motorcycles and had me teach you in the parking lot at Larc lane. I knew that it was something we both had a passion for. I am so glad we got the chance to take that ride Memorial Day weekend. It was a great feeling to have you side by side and sharing the road! Its going to be very hard here on Earth without you, but Aliyah said it best when she said "Uncle Chris must be up in heaven helping God fix the bowling lanes so the Angels can bowl".

I love you so much and will forever miss you!

“ I really do not know where to begin. I am truly saddened with hearing the news. Chris was a great friend of mine and we shared so many memories together whether it was on the bowling lanes, those late night drives as teenagers, singing karaoke at Good Times, screwing around on the computer together or some of the pranks we pulled as kids. Chris will be greatly missed by me and many many other people in and out of the Toledo area. Ron, Cindy, Dan and Shannon, my sympathy goes out to all of you and if there is anything I can do to help please do not hesitate to ask. “ Greetings Taylor family

In this world, when we lose a loved one, it seems we are never quite prepared. Our friends and family give their best, sincere, condolences. And they will always be there for us when needed. Still, and often, for those of us on the receiving end these same gestures of sympathy seem like a drop in the bucket compared to the grief that is felt.

We all know it will pass, somewhat. We all know that life must go on. And we all know that our time will come as well. Is there any more to it than that?

Love, it never dies.

1st John 3:14

After the healing process, you will no doubt, still think of Chris from time to time. From where you sit (in this world) it may seem forever to heal..

But I am certain, from the place where Christopher sits right now.

He will see you all tomorrow.

“ On October 11th 2009 my life was changed in an instant. I lost not only my best friend, my fiance, but my inspiration towards life. I met Chris when i was a junior in high school, him and his friend Alex came over to my house on New Years Eve 1999. That was the start of a good friendship. We remained in contact with each other for the next few years. Dtaylor675 was always there for me online whenever i needed someone to talk to. We started dating in the fall of 2004. That was the beginning of our wonderful relationship. Our favorite things to do were going to cear point, eating at texas roadhouse, and just recently riding the motorcycle. He loved riding around with me and i was proud to be the only motorcyclist in a pink helmet. We were just about to continue our lives together in our new house that he just bought for us. Chris did so much for me during our years together. I really dont think i could have made it through college without the encouragment and help he gave me. He gave me purpose to want to better myself. I miss him so much and i cant begin to think how to continue a life without him. He was the man i wanted to marry and be with forever.##imported-begin##Shannon Simmons sls0182@msn.com##imported-end##

“ I was very saddend to hear of the passing of Chris. I didnt not know him in person, but knew him thru Bowl-Tech, a bowling mechanics website in which he frequented. Chris was always the first to offer any technical advice to those of us that may have needed it, always willing to help a Bowl-Tech brother or sister, and was always a very nice person to each and everyone there. He was a very well respected pinspotter mechanic and community member on Bowl-Tech. He will be missed greatly. My condolences to Chris' family, friends, and co-workers. Rest in peace Chris.
