“ Dear beloved ones of John Mackin,

I was out-of-town much of the summer and have been trying to reach John. I had a horrible feeling that I should check the obituaries tonight, and found this sad news. I am heartbroken. I adored John. He had a heart of gold and a deep love of music that we shared. I so enjoyed the violin sessions that he kept regularly at our home. He loved playing the violin and offered his music in the service of God and of friends. He had a good sense of humor, a willingness to help others, and a deep humility. I send my deepest condolences to the family that he adored and spoke about so often. Denise, you brought love and light to his life again. Blessings to all of you. I am so sorry for your loss.

*Love,
Cecilia Johnson*

“ My sister Sue Vorraber, was married to John's brother Frank. Most of my memories are from many years ago, starting when I was just a young boy. Johnny has always been a pleasant, friendly, smiling person in all my interactions. It was very nice to see him again a few years ago when he joined us during the funeral proceedings for my father. It was very interesting to learn of his musical talents and involvement. The Irish pride was well known through the years. My wife met Johnny during my fathers funeral and stated she really had a great interaction and fond memories. We both send sympathies to the entire family. I am sure he will be missed!

“ My family was blessed to know and live behind the Mackin family from the time that John and his brother Francis were young. Beautiful Mrs Mackin would make tea and the most delicious cookies for me (and bring the only girl around, I was spoiled!) My dad, a fireman, would help out on his days off, and the stories he told about dad Tom are classics of Irish wit. Needless to say, we hope John and my dad, in heaven now together, can ask Tom why he never bought the horse he'd always leave them to go see.

John was a devout Catholic and gentle Irish soul who lived his faith and always gave us his best. We loved him dearly as a friend and will miss him very much. May God hold him in the palm of His hand.

“ It was my pleasure to wait on John at Maumee Plumbing Supply for the twenty years I worked there. He was one of the best of the independent plumbers in our local plumbing community. It was also a pleasure to see him at St. Joseph's

“ My deepest sympathy to John's family. I met John through my parents. He was their plumber, and when I got my house he became my plumber. John was not only an excellent plumber, but a very kind, honest man who had a passion for his work. John was the only plumber I ever knew or had, so he will be hard to replace, and sadly missed.

“ John & I grew up on Upton Street five houses from one another & attended Gesu Grade School & CCHS together as classmates. I have many fond boyhood memories with John, especially the many hours spent at his backyard basketball hoop. I will miss his quiet nature & strong character. He was a beautiful person & wonderful friend, & I will miss seeing his smiling face. My deep condolences to his family & Denise on their loss.

When he came to the house (he always knew the code. He was
