“ I have so many fond memories of Auntie Maggie. She joined us, at our home, weekly for dinner. She would ride the bus from work and the bus stop was right in front of our house. Auntie Maggie always dressed for work with style. She was fashionable and always wore high heels. She was of small stature so the heels were always "high". Due to her small stature, her shoe size was also small. When she was ready to discard her "high" heels, she would give them to us. We were a house of four little girls and we loved to wear them and play dress up. It was so much fun because they were our shoe size too! So many fond memories. Auntie Maggie is a great role model for love of family, motherhood and independence.##imported-begin##Pat Bissonnette pbissonnette2@gmail.com##imported-end##

“ I will miss my monthly visits to see Margaret and make her nails pretty and "round"! I always loved hearing her stories of riding the bus every where as well as her straight to the point comments. (i.e. The View was always on when I was there, and she always thought Whoopi dressed so awful, like a "bag lady" and Margaret could never understand why Barbara Walters was still working at her "age"!!) What a wonderful and amazing lady she was...R.I.P. Margaret...you will be missed!##imported-begin##Lynn- "The nail girl"##imported-end##

“ Maggie was one of the first people I got to know when I began working at Social Security. Maggie was a hoot. Always called it as she saw it and was remarkably accurate. She adored her children and told us of them often. She always had high praise for her "Ed". I'm glad they had such a long time with each other. She will be missed by all.##imported-begin##Judy Chromik##imported-end##
