“ Aunt Millie was one of 10 children , growing up it was nice to have so many Aunts and Uncles living nearby, most of which lived within 2 miles of us.

Aunt Mille never left you in the dark. You always new exactly where she stood on any issue, she was never afraid to share her opinions with you.

A lot of the time as a kid this was intimidating , but as I got older I came to recognize that wry smile and twinkle in her eye that seemed to say "Gotcha"!

Even though my contact with her has been limited for quite some time, I mostly remember her as a good Aunt who lived a few blocks over and had us over for sleep overs or to play with our cousins. As an adult I remember she was always good for a little verbal sparring which she seemed to enjoy, but sometimes made me squirm.

She is the last of a generation of good people who were an integral part of my youth, and I thank them all for that.

Peace to you Aunt Millie
